

Grandad's Fright Night

Maisie Lou

Love my grey-haired Grandad, I do
Life changed last year, when he got stuck on the loo
Nana screaming, water streaming, big brown bathroom door locked
Top of the stairs were completely blocked
'Ambulance, Fire, Rescue?'
'Ambulance please...tell them to hurry too'
This is definitely not a joke
My train loving Grandad, has had a stroke
What a super scary sight
A night that gave everyone a fright
Grandad fell over, two weeks before
Hitting his head, on the concrete garage floor
'I'm OK, I'm OK...don't fuss over me
I'll be fine with a nice cup of tantalising tea'
Grandad's fall had taken its toll
He sat there staring, into a big black hole
Screeching sirens sounding, no sleep
All we could do was weep
The hospital treated Grandad with amazing care
The sticky situation could have turned into a nightmare
Today, my grey-haired Grandad is almost better
Although, he still can't write a letter
Our time together now, is at a much slower pace
But I'm so grateful, I still get to squish his funny, furry face
